

Partners in Prayer

May - June 2007

*“How blessed is the man who finds wisdom
And the man who gains understanding”
- Proverbs 18:15*

Praise:

- There are many strong candidates for the Brown Middle School Bible history teacher opening for next year. A number of prime prospects have advanced degrees in Bible.
- We are thankful for some new church support that we've recently received.
- One teacher reports that as she sees former students who have graduated, many tell her that her Bible history class was instrumental in their public school experience.
- Steve Clinton thought that he might have had a stroke. False alarm, but the doctors said, "Relax more." Easier said than done when you teach middle school children!

Prayer:

- Funds will become available to enable Bible in the Schools to meet the needs of all the schools that have requested the program. We still need approximately $390,000 before July 31st.
- Continue to pray for Carolyn Owens' health problems. She is making progress, but is still not back to normal.
- As the end of school year approaches, pray for the students to stay focused on their studies. Also, as one teacher exclaimed, "Pray for the end of the year 'craziness' felt by students and teachers alike!"
- Pray for the right Bible history teacher to be hired for the Brown Middle School opening.
- Several teachers have requested prayer for family members who are either physically or spiritually ailing.
- Continue to pray for the gang problems at several of our public schools.
- Jennifer Rigby is continuing her final course work before she receives her full teacher license. Please pray for her strength, focus, and time.
- To fulfill the continual requests from school principals for additional Bible history teachers, new support must be raised from individuals, businesses and churches that surround these schools. Pray that this "neighborhood" financial support will grow.
